Vacumet, Smith Frozen Foods and Ace Hardware Paint Division select Precision Solutions Group, Inc.

Walpole, MA -- The Precision Solutions Group proudly announces three new companies have selected PSGI to support their enterprise business systems. These companies recognize the knowledge and experience the PSGI team brings to the table responsively and accurately resolving issues as well as the value the PSGI support model delivers with comprehensive business and technical consulting services.

Ace Hardware Paint Division employed PSGI's PRISM consulting services last year and quickly came to the conclusion that PSGI would provide the best support services ensuring their business continuity. "PSGI demonstrated their PRISM expertise and professionalism when enhancing core PRISM functionality to meet current business requirements," stated Ace's Paint Sr. Systems Analyst, Bob Frendling, "We know we can depend on PSGI to address any PRISM issues that may arise while providing business and technical consulting services to enhance the return PRISM delivers to our business." "PSGI welcomes Ace Hardware Paint Division who uses PRISM extensively to drive their operations and recognizes the potential to continually improve and enhance their PRISM infrastructure to keep pace with the ever changing requirements of the consumer products industry," affirmed Larry Dube, PSGI's president.

Placing a high value on PSGI's consulting services, Smith Frozen Foods selected the Precision Solutions Group to provide customer support for both their PRISM and World applications. According to Smith's CFO Gary Crowder, "Right out of the starting blocks, we will receive value from the PSGI support model which includes consulting days as they assist us moving PRISM and JDE World to newly acquired hardware. We also have a few projects in mind that will provide an immediate return on our investment in PSGI customer support services."

Vacumet division of Scholle Corporation recognized the value of PSGI supporting their highly customized PRISM and World environment. Per Vacumet's IT Director Tom Long, "We've added substantial roll manufacturing enhancements to PRISM that up to now we've had to support internally. While core PRISM is rock solid, our modifications are periodically the source of issues. PSGI's ability to support our enhanced software enables us to focus our attentions on ensuring our multiple operating units running PRISM get the most value out of the software." Larry Dube said, "We welcome Vacumet to our family of companies running PRISM and JDE World software and believe we can assist them in developing synergy between the several facilities ensuring they each derive the maximum value from the software and together continue to provide a stable, functionally rich environment to address their niche manufacturing environment."

About Ace Hardware Paints. Throughout its 80-year history, Ace Hardware has been known as the helpful hardware store by both customers and communities.
