PSGI Announces the Release of the PRISM® User Group Forum Website

Walpole, MA -- Continuing to support the PRISM User Community, the Precision Solutions Group announces the availability of the PRISM User Group Forum website. User collaboration was voted one of the highest priorities at the PRISM User Group meeting last November. Working with user group representatives, PSGI sponsored development of the Forum website. We will continue to sponsor the site into the future as the PRISM ERP application continues to provide superior value and return on investment for dozens of companies worldwide.

Welcome to the PRISM® User Group!

The PRISM® User Group has always been an active, vocal community interested in maximizing the value all users achieve with the PRISM® ERP solution. This User Forum is designed to facilitate user interaction, collaboration, and information sharing making each company's use of PRISM® more efficient as a member of this community. Discussion topics may be anything a company using PRISM® might be interested in, from business processes, PRISM® questions, ancillary software products, technology, etc.

Please take a few minutes to create a User Profile, enter your company information in the Company Directory and your contact information in the Member Directory. Detailed Instructions can be found here. The Forum allows you to initiate or add to discussion threads and share your experiences viewable by registered members. The Search option provides users with full text searching capabilities on all information entered into the Company and Employee Directories. Make the most of your PRISM® User Group Forum.

The Forum website provides company and contact information for PRISM Users and most importantly a forum to facilitate user interaction, collaboration, and information sharing. According to PSGI's founder and president Larry Dube, "We share a common goal with the User Community to get the most out of PRISM by sharing ideas and lessons learned and maximizing the value PRISM delivers. The PRISM User Group has always been an active vocal community. In that tradition we hope this website becomes a often used vehicle for users assisting each other to achieve their goals and extending the life of PRISM well into the future." Take a few moments right now to enter your company and contact information and give the User Group Forum website a kick start at

Discussion topics may be anything a company using PRISM might be interested:

- business processes
- PRISM configuration or usage
- ancillary software products
- technology
- etc.

PRISM users should feel secure as they retain ownership of any information entered on the site and it will not be used for any other purpose than the PRISM User Group Forum without their written permission.

If you would like to join the User Group Forum advisory committee to continue to improve the Forum website, please send an email to Ed Kelly. We welcome your invaluable input to ensure this Forum becomes a valuable tool to improve your PRISM infrastructure.
